

Partnering with California Staffing Professionals

By Jason Ortner, Avionté Sales VP

Being an industry partner of the California Staffing Professionals Association (CSP) has been exceedingly beneficial and rewarding for us over the years. Not only does the California Staffing Association provide invaluable information about the California staffing industry's latest news and trends. CSP also offers opportunities, through their various events put on throughout the year, to come together and learn together with industry-leading professionals and experts.

These events, including CSP's Annual Conference, provide us as a CSP Industry Partner the opportunity to really build upon our relationships with others in the industry. We are able to make invaluable connections with people face-to-face, while also informing the professionals we meet of the benefits of investing in an innovative staffing software solution like Avionté and how we have seen it lead to tremendous growth and increased success for our users.

The staffing industry is fortunate to have so strong of an advocate for the staffing industry as the California Staffing Association. Their team is top-notch and works as a truthful voice for the industry in California: one that can really make a difference, for years to come. Over the years of our industry partnership with CSP, we have seen their drive for change and passion for the industry work in impactful ways – through lobbying, legislative updates, events and more.

It is clear that the California Staffing Professionals Association is an exceptionally important player in the staffing industry. Want unmatched business and professional opportunities? Quality education and legislative advocacy? The opportunity to take part in top industry events each year?

Invest in a CSP membership. We are so glad we did.

About Avionté:

Avionté provides comprehensive staffing software and delivers integrated software systems that make it easier to drive growth, maximize profitability and streamline your administrative tasks, so that you can focus on your serving your customers.

To learn more about the many benefits of Avionté staffing software, contact us today.